The academic session of 2020-21 was unique in many ways. It was a year of resilience but at the same time a year of reaching new heights. The academic year 2020-21 began on August 10, 2020. First of its kind in the history of education, it was a new venture for students and teachers alike to interact via online mode. But nothing could deter the spirits and enthusiasm of our academic fraternity to continue the everlasting process of learning and growing. Be it education or co-curricular, the department of Political Science met every challenge head on and continued unimpeded on its path of excellence. Some of the shining glimpses of its online journey over the last year have been enlisted here.
