- On the 21st June that has been globally accepted as the international yoga day, the NSS volunteers. MH along with the members of the NCC and sports Department organised a 45-members of the Yoga occasion in the college lawns at 7:30 am in the morning with the rains falling down, the enthusiasm was heightened instead of being drained on the contrary. # Spreading smile.....

In Raksha Bandhan, the festival that marks the love of the bond of a brother and sister, was given a new dimensions by the NSS, Miranda House, this year. Three days prior to the festival, the NSS volunteers made rakhis with their hands and then distributed them among the children in the Hudson Lane teaching centre and also at Malkaganj slum area. The next day i.e. on 27th August, the volunteers also travelled to Kriti Nagar slum area to distribute rakhis.

For young and old....

Awareness campaign...

A street play on hygiene and good health practices which effectively portrayed the consequences of living in unhygienic circumstances in a humorous and intelligent manner. It was an innovative way to spread awareness about diseases (like dengue) through the medium of street performance and demonstrations.

Hope to achieve....

- To bridge the gap between the community, local stakeholders and those dedicated towards the cause of social service.
- Working to provide a clean and safe environment for the people and the community .
